

For Immediate Release – Magden M.1b Performance Computer

Magden Automotive, a technology company with professional racing heritage, is proud to announce its new product for the automotive aftermarket, the Magden M.1b Performance Computer. Their small computer connects with one cable to your vehicle's in-cabin diagnostic plug and will display an amazing array of engine and performance data to a video screen.

The M.1b Performance Computer also allows the user to select the desired data for each Gauge location. The user can select horsepower, torque, fuel mileage, g-forces, boost pressure / vacuum and many others. The user can also select the screen Layouts, Skins and Gauge colors to match their own interior, making the M.1b Performance Computer customizable. The computer connects to most video screens and one can be purchased from Magden Automotive.
